QUARTERLY MINIMUM DISCLOSURE DOCUMENT (MDD)

FUND OBJECTIVE

The investment objective of the Cell is to achieve capital appreciation over the medium to long term. The Cell is multi-asset flexible fund, investing primarily in global markets. There will be no limitations on the relative exposure of the portfolio to any asset class.

INVESTMENT PHILOSOPHY

The investment policy of the Cell is to create an actively-managed portfolio providing exposure to various asset classes including equity, fixed interest, property and money market. The Cell may invest in securities directly or it may invest in portfolios of collective investment schemes or other similar schemes that provide exposure to the relevant asset classes, or both. Investment performance is targeted through asset allocation, security and portfolio selection.

FUND MANAGER COMMENTARY

The year 2024 proved exceptionally rewarding for investors, with growth surpassing expectations and corporate earnings delivering robust results. Investor sentiment aligned with this growth, driving many high-quality companies to all-time highs. As we enter 2025, optimism remains strong, bolstered by forecasts from the Wall Street Journal at the end of last year that projected continued US growth, supported by anticipated tax cuts, policy liberalization, and deregulation. On the surface, this paints a promising picture for the markets. However, the interpretation may not be as straightforward as it seems. We believe that several of the tailwinds that fueled growth in 2024 are now shifting into headwinds. Key concerns include global economic uncertainties and the weakening Chinese yuan, both of which suggest that risks are mounting.

One of the most pressing concerns for US equity valuations is the rise in inflation expectations. With hedging strategies underperforming in recent years, investor complacency has grown. The equity risk premium, which typically leads market volatility by approximately 18 months, points to a potential uptick in volatility ahead. While it may be tempting to follow the consensus outlined in the Wall Street Journal, we believe it is wiser to heed the market's signals. Volatility and liquidity remain more critical indicators of risk than earnings growth and valuations. At current levels, the S&P 500 appears asymmetrically priced — reflecting much of the potential upside but overlooking significant downside risks.

Transaction costs (TC) relate to the buying and selling of the assets underlying the financial product. Total Investment Charge (TIC) is the value of the financial product incurred as costs relating to the investment of the financial product. A higher TER does not necessarily imply a poor return, nor does a low TER imply a good return. The current TER may not necessarily be an accurate indication of future TER's. Transaction Costs are a necessary cost in administering the financial product and impacts the financial product return. It should not be considered in isolation as returns may be impacted by many other factors over such as market returns, the type of financial product, the investment decisions of the Cell Manager and the TER.

Annualised and lumpsum returns is the weighted average compound growth rate over the performance period measured. Lumpsum investment returns include income distributions reinvested (after fees and costs). Performance numbers and graphs are sourced from Morningstar.
